

What Have You Done About Your Stove?

Yesterday was a day to set you to thinking. You now realize that you undoubtedly need a stove. Now you are trying to decide what kind you want. Call at the store and let us show you a line of stoves and heaters. Look at our east window at the heaters there. They are the best oil heaters made. Drop in and we demonstrate them.

Then look over the line of air-tight heaters, stoves and ranges. Remember, we handle the Charter Oak goods. They cannot be beat. And the prices are all of them right.

FROM HOUSE TO HOUSE SUNDAY SCHOOL UNION

Instructions Sent Out by Rev. Mr. Cronenberger, President of the Union, Concerning the Organization.

Rev. J. Cronenberger, president of the Phoenix Sunday School Union, has issued the following instructions regarding the house-to-house canvass in the interest of the union. For additional information, inquiry may be made of Mr. Cronenberger at his residence, 722 West Fillmore street, or telephone, Red 352.

"Information has been given to the public concerning the organization of the Phoenix Sunday School Union, and that plans were under way for a complete house-to-house canvass. At a recent meeting of the executive committee at the office of Dr. Neff, the entire city was districted, and a call made upon the different churches for canvassers, to which call they responded most willingly and enthusiastically. This canvass will be made next Saturday, October 27th, between the hours of eight and twelve.

"The committee arranged the M. E. church South as the central office, as it is nearest to the center of the four wards. We trust that every church has made a list of the canvassers that they have promised to furnish, and that all these canvassers from all the churches and Sunday schools will meet the executive committee and chairman at the M. E. church South, on Saturday morning, promptly at 8 o'clock. The outside districts, where the houses and homes are scattered, the canvassers will need to use buggies, and one who can furnish a horse and buggy do so? We trust you will not forget this. The canvass cards are all ready for you, and will be furnished on Saturday morning at the church and you will be instructed how to fill them.

"It is also expected that the executive committee will be on hand as a whole to assist in assigning the canvassers their territory. The ward chairmen will be prompt, and look after their own individual work. Should anything happen over which you have no control and keep you from coming to take your place as a canvasser, or your place as a committeeman, do not fail to send a competent person in your stead. Canvassers are expected to provide themselves with good pencils, a knife to keep them in order, and a small pencil tablet on which to make notes. Ladies should bring a 'large hand purse in which to carry their cards. The information sought, or questions asked at each home, are as follows:

"Name; address; number in family attending Sunday school; number in family; communicant church members; number in family 15 years old and under; total number of all ages. Next, the church of which they are members, or their choice; the name of the pastor, and are any of the family members red, and are any of the family members of churches in other places. Will each home take notice now of the information desired by our canvassers, and be ready to answer, so that all our churches can have the information asked for and desired.

"Suggestions to Canvassers: Write very plainly and make complete records. Every question is important. Be very careful in checking the denomination, or confusion will result, and much work will be lost. Do not be formal—be neighborly. Remember no two families are alike, therefore be tactful. Frankly tell the people your mission, telling them that the entire city is being canvassed, and like questions asked at every home. If any refuse information (which rarely happens) try at least to get the name and address, and if any home refuses entirely, or any that are not at home, get all the information you can at the door. Make a separate card for servant, boarder or roomer, and fill the card accordingly.

"Extend to such as are not attending any Sunday school and church a cordial invitation to attend the church and school of their choice, leaving the impression that any one of them would be glad to receive them. In no case advocate any particular denomination. We do not visit stores, offices nor saloons. People call home where they sleep. As soon as you have covered the territory assigned you, return to the central office and give your cards to the executive committee, who will classify them, and give them to the superintendent and pastor where they belong.

"We shall find many needy cases among those visited. 'The lonely hearts to cherish' are not all in the homes of the poor, but oftentimes they are surrounded by all that money can buy. Numerous church letters which have been hidden for years will be found, and they will be cared for by the spiritual shepherd of their choice. The entire city will be classified denominationally, so that each pastor can go direct to the persons preferring his church, and none will be missed.

"Most important of all, the satisfaction of knowing that we have in a measure, at least, complied with our Master's command to 'go.' No man can then say 'No man careth for my soul.'

"Now, do not forget the time, Saturday, October 27th, from 8 to 12 o'clock, the place, the M. E. Church South.

"Come in the name and love of the Christ, to do a splendid work for Him and our city. Any question will be gladly answered."

THE WOMAN OF IT SISTER OF BAER

Lays the Blame For His Criminal Career Upon His Wife, of Whom She Had Never Heard.

The sheriff's office has received a letter from Mrs. Edith King, of New York City, a sister of David Baer, the man who was taken to Yuma on Wednesday night to serve a three-year sentence for forgery. The writer of the letter is evidently a woman of refinement. She had been informed by the sheriff's office at the request of Baer, of his predicament. She wrote that she was sorry, but she knew of nothing that she could do. She had written a lawyer in Chicago, whom she knew, asking him to request some lawyer in Phoenix to take up the case, but beyond that she was unable to help him.

She was sorely grieved at his trouble, and was ready to put the blame on his wife or on "the woman," as she referred to her. She admitted that she knew nothing about her, and little more about her brother, whom she had not seen since he was a little boy. Yet, she supposed that he was earning an honest living. Mrs. King's advice was that Baer plead guilty and throw himself on the mercy of the court, and have it over with as soon as possible. Notwithstanding he got off easily, Baer believed that when he was being taken away, that some one had been "knocking him to the court" otherwise he would have gotten off with about six months in the county jail.

In one way he has been fortunate in having been arrested at all in Phoenix if he intended to keep this thing up, for if he had gone on to Los Angeles as he intended doing, he would certainly have fallen into the hands of the authorities there. California sentences are fearsome things just now, while an effort is being made to break up a carnival of crime. The other day a 20-year-old boy was sent up for twenty years for highway robbery.
